Ask Yourself:

1. Is the union good for everyone or just those who think it will protect them from being held accountable?
2. Do I want to give my money to a union whose leaders have faced numerous federal charges for criminal activity including illegally seizing dues from their members?
3. Can I trust what the union organizers are promising and saying?
4. Am I willing to risk being stuck with a contract that I don't even get to vote on?
5. Am I willing to risk losing the ability to go to my supervisor for last minute schedule changes or other needs?
6. Am I 100% sure I will end up better off than I am now if this union represents me?

If you answered 'No' to any of these questions, don't risk it!
